Above drawings belongs to individual that worked hard to understand herself and existing conflicts within self. Trigger was initiated by divorce and age. Although the work did not finish yet, the progress is shown clearly through her drawings. Later on individual send me a gratitude letter and I realized the progress done very well. First she said “ I do not have ability to draw and as went along with session she started to like her drawings and find the connection of those with her life in a degree that she did not want let those drawings stays in the file. Later she send it copy of those to me and I am posting here, One thing is very clear that drawing started with ordinary pencil and continued in that fashion for a while then, suddenly changed to very colourful drawing and that I perceive, change of perception towards life.

Later, as I review files again I will write her given feeling and description of those drawings
